FAMILY BACKGROUND RE: SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

Born January 17, 1949 to Joe Fullop, Jr. and Helen Marie Fullop

Married to Courtland Reeves 1986, Luxor, Egypt

Three children: Bryan, Casey, Franceska

One Grandchild: Mercer

Father was appointed by President Jack Kennedy to be part of a five-man board sent to South America for social responsibility called the Alliance for Progress. This was one of the first initiatives of social responsibility.

Later he was appointed by Governor Kerner of Illinois to be head of Economic Development for the State of Illinois. His pilot projects were Senior Citizens, Head Start, and Job Corp. By utilizing GSA equipment taken off of military bases, colleges, towns and OJT programs could be fully equipped with no expense to the program. He was so successful that the Governor and his counsel declared a Joe Fullop Day in Illinois.

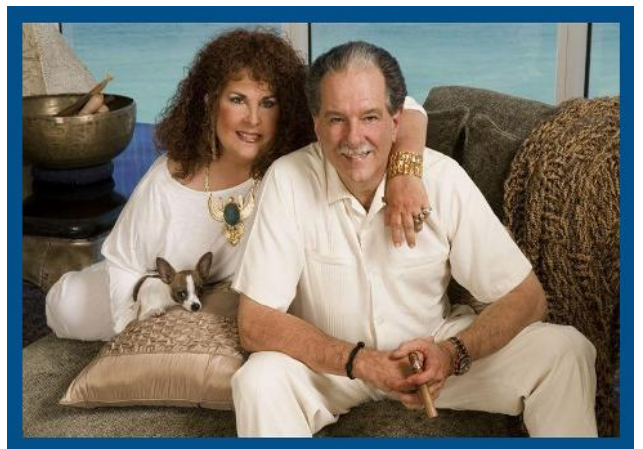

From my father's dedication to mankind and his philanthropic work, many of the models were so creative that they have been passed down to now be a newly revamped system for JYBAWorld, our global system for peace and the Fulfillment of the UN Millennium Goals. It is to him this project is dedicated.

It was from him that my passion for others grew as I traveled with my father throughout South America and Africa working among Presidents and Ambassadors. My appreciation of the diversity of cultures and customs became second nature.

When I acquired my driver's license, I worked in the summer as a legal assistant and after work and on weekends I volunteered and ran the Red Cross Office in Mt Carmel, Illinois, which was a team of two. Because of this, I became very aware of the inner workings of non-profit organizations. When I was away at Boarding School, I organized a team of girls in my class to administer to the blind and aged on weekends, which gave me true compassion for the elderly and handicapped.

In the summer of my Senior Year I was a Congressional Page at the House of Representatives under Congressman Kenneth Gray and worked out of the Rayburn Building. This short experience provided vital insight into the inner workings of government and its committees. Congressman Gray, at the time, was Head of the House Ways and Means Committee as well as Public Works. While in high school I was a Page at the Capitol in Springfield under Majority Leader Clyde

Choate. This background in government offered invaluable information into the inner workings of politics and diplomacy at a State Level. It was a time of corruption in government and I was able to see how important transparency and teamwork is vital to the success of a program. My father was successful because he was an out of the box thinker with true vision. His courage and sense of awareness have given me a legacy that I am using to embody the principles of the SHIFT2012/JYBA model today.
